Representative PRATT: Merci, Président Cummings. Thank you, Mr. Speaker. I promise to be brief, but I do want to rise and have everyone take a look at and realize what people go through.
I am very proud, I am very happy to be here. I am proud to be the sponsor of this Resolution, and I thank you for your time. I do want to thank all the folks who have come down here today to show their support for not only this day, but for a very vibrant, very alive and very real culture that surrounds us in this state and has for quite some time. Thank you very much, Mr. Speaker; thank you, Men and Women of the House; merci. Subsequently, the Joint Resolution was ADOPTED. Sent for concurrence. ORDERED SENT FORTHWITH.

SPECIAL SENTIMENT CALENDAR
In accordance with House Rule 519 and Joint Rule 213, the following items:
Recognizing:
Pearley and Alice LaChance, of Waterville, on their being inducted into the Franco-American Hall of Fame for their lifetime of work and support of the French heritage in Maine. Mr. and Mrs. LaChance grew up speaking French at home and attending bilingual elementary parochial schools in the Winslow and Waterville areas. Mr. LaChance attended evening classes on Franco-American Culture at Waterville High School Adult Ed and attended Franco-American courses, seminars and conferences. He was an active member of the group that founded the "Le F.A.R.O.G. Forum" at the University of Maine. In 1975 Mr. and Mrs. LaChance returned to French-speaking Algeria, Mr. LaChance as a machine tool instructor and Mrs. LaChance as a coordinator welcoming newly arriving families from the United States, Canada and Europe. Retirement has allowed Mr. and Mrs. LaChance to be active participants in Franco-American groups such as the Bavards, the Franco-American Heritage Society of the Kennebec Valley and the Franco-American Heritage Center in Lewiston as well as volunteering in many other organizations. Mr. LaChance has conducted tours for school and adult groups of the "Museum in the Street," which highlights the contributions of Franco-Americans to the Waterville Area. In 2004 they served as the Honorary Memere and Pepere for the Franco-American Festival in Waterville. We extend our congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. LaChance on their induction into the Franco-American Hall of Fame;

The SPEAKER: The Chair recognizes the Representative from Winslow, Representative Fletcher.

Representative FLETCHER: Thank you Mr. Speaker. Mr. Speaker, Ladies and Gentlemen of the House. It is my privilege to recognize Pearley and Alice LaChance on their induction into the Franco-American Hall of Fame. Congratulations, Pearley and Alice.

As you have heard, Alice and Pearley's history is one of growth, adventure and excitement. But you should know that they first met as teenagers, where else, at a Waterville-Winslow sports event. For those of us who are from that area, that is the heritage of the Maine Community College System—served as the coordinator for the Maine Apprenticeship Program, with the Heritage of the Maine Technical Institute—where Pearley served as a training director for four years. And after that, in 1982, they returned to Algeria again on another adventure and, also, utilizing their skills and knowledge to help people in other places but, as always, Maine was home. Alice and Pearley returned. That is where Pearley went on and earned a B.S degree in vocational technical education from the University of Southern Maine; and at that time, Maine was home. Alice and Pearley returned. That is where the battle of the rivers. We just cannot do that.

As we just learned a few years later, they left Maine and traveled to Algeria for another adventure and, also, utilizing their knowledge and skills to help people in other places but, as always, Maine was home. Alice and Pearley returned. That is where the heritage of the Maine Community College System—served as the coordinator for the Maine Apprenticeship Program, with the Heritage of the Maine Technical Institute—where Pearley served as a training director for four years. And then it was time to come home again, and they continued to work in the local community and Pearley—this is significant because of the enormous contributions of French people to our state and our country.

In 1982, they returned to Algeria again on another adventure, where Pearley served as a training director for four years. And then it was time to come home again, and they continued to work in the local community and Pearley—this is significant because of the enormous contributions of French people to our state and our country.

By that time, Madame Professor Giguere had retired from Maine and traveled to Algeria for another adventure and, also, utilizing their knowledge and skills to help people in other places but, as always, Maine was home. Alice and Pearley returned. And then it was time to come home again, and they continued to work in the local community and Pearley—this is significant because of the enormous contributions of French people to our state and our country.

I hope you realize, as I have realized, that Alice and Pearley are the quintessential renaissance couple. Congratulations and thank you for all you have done for the people in our area. Thank you.

Representative MAKAS: Thank you, Mr. Speaker. Merci, Monsieur Président. J'ai eu le privilège de rencontrer Madame le Professeur Giguere il y a 15 ans, quand j'ai commencé d'enseigner au Collège de Lewiston-Auburn.

I had the pleasure of meeting Professor Giguere 15 years ago, when I began to teach at Lewiston-Auburn College.

A l'époque, Madame le Professeur Giguere a pris sa retraite professionnelle d'enseigner, mais elle a continué de renseigner les gens au sujet des Francos qui a contribué enormément à notre état de Maine et à Lewiston-Auburn.

By that time, Madame Professor Giguere had retired from classroom teaching, but she continued to educate people about the enormous contributions of French people to our state and our country.

La collection Franco-Américain a Lewiston-Auburn Collège garde une partie de notre histoire essentielle. Cette collection existe a de cause de Madame le Professeur Giguere. C'était elle qui a commencé à ramasser les artefacts et de les garder pour la postérité.

The Franco-American collection at Lewiston-Auburn College has maintained a part of our important history. It is because of this wonderful woman that we have collected so many of the artifacts and kept them for posterity.

Recognizing:
Madeleine Giguere, of Lewiston, on her being inducted posthumously into the Franco-American Hall of Fame for her lifetime of work and support of the French heritage in Maine. Professor Giguere, an internationally recognized sociologist, was known locally and regionally as "la marraine," the godmother, of Maine's Franco-Americans. Professor Giguere had a long and distinguished academic career, specializing in ethnic and women's issues. She taught at St. Joseph's College and Boston College before accepting a position at the University of Southern Maine where she established Franco-American Studies as a legitimate and important part of her curriculum. The author and editor of numerous publications about Franco-Americans, she was an authority on the analysis of ethnic components of the United States Census since 1970. She served on statewide committees defending women's rights and promoting Franco-American contributions to Maine's development. In 1992, the Library of Congress recognized her for her contributions to Acadian culture. Professor Giguere was instrumental in establishing the Franco-American Heritage Collection at Lewiston-Auburn College. The Reading Room at the Franco-American Collection and a scholarship fund have been named in her honor;
Madame le Professeur a crée les bourses pour les étudiants pour étudier l'histoire des Franco-Américains en Maine.

Professor Giguere has left a generous endowment to support the continued study of our state's Franco heritage. I am honored to have been able to nominate and see her inducted into the Franco-American Hall of Fame. Thank you.

On motion of Representative CANAVAN of Waterville, the House RECONSIDERED its action whereby Expression of Legislative Sentiment recognizing Pearley and Alice LaChance, of Waterville (HLS 1106)

Was PASSED.

The SPEAKER: The Chair recognizes the Representative from Waterville, Representative Canavan.

Representative CANAVAN: Thank you Mr. Speaker. Mr. Speaker, Men and Women of the House. This story of Pearley and Alice LaChance, of Waterville, exemplifies in the truest sense of the meaning "the Franco-American experience here in Maine."

No two people could be more deserving of induction into the Franco-American Hall of Fame.

As first generation Franco-Americans, Pearley and Alice grew up speaking French at home, and attended bilingual elementary parochial schools in the Winslow-Waterville area. As my esteemed colleague from Winslow has mentioned, they met as teenagers at a basketball game, eventually marrying and then had four children, all grown now, and all successful in their chosen fields: One is a teacher; another a flight commander with the U.S. Air Force; another an engineer; and another is a reimbursement specialist.

At first glance, theirs is an average sounding story, but the experience of Pearley and Alice LaChance holds lessons for every single ethnic group that has ever struggled to gain a foothold here in America. On the surface, it seems like their lives were easy, but they were not. Like so many Franco-Americans that chose to make Maine their new home, they had a language barrier to overcome, and cultural differences as well. But when you read between the lines of their story, you see a pattern emerge that suggests how it was that Pearley and Alice managed to overcome the obstacles that stood in their way, and how they managed to adapt so well to their new lives without ever losing sight of the value of their Franco-American heritage.

First and foremost is their strong work ethic, so typical of Franco-Americans everywhere. Second is the premium they placed on education, for themselves, as well as for their children. And the third thing that looms large in the story of Pearley and Alice LaChance is the pride they have consistently demonstrated in their heritage: Both are active members of several Franco-American groups, including the Bavards, a group that seeks to encourage French as a second language; and the Franco-American Heritage Society of the Kennebec Valley, an organization that works to recognize the many contributions of Franco-Americans to the community and to that state.

The story of Pearley and Alice LaChance is a story of two lovely people, who by dint of hard work, courage and endurance—and a wonderful sense of humor by the way—were able to experience the American dream, while never forgetting the rich culture of their foremothers and their forefathers. Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

It is my distinct pleasure to have been one of the many people who nominated Rachel Desgroselliers, of Auburn, to be inducted into the Franco-American Hall of Fame. Rachel is the Executive Director of the Museum L-A, and is a true gem in our community.

Rachel's work to preserve the culture and heritage of the Franco-American community is intense and ongoing daily. Rachel has worked tirelessly to gather and preserve items from the heyday of the Industrial Revolution in Lewiston and Auburn that would otherwise be lost forever.

But I know that what Rachel is most proud of are the oral histories that she has gathered, forever recorded in her own words and in print, of the Franco-American workers in the Lewiston-Auburn area. She has also created a form that will last forever to preserve the histories of people's lives, the artifacts, and the time that would otherwise be lost forever.

I certainly remember that Rachel is very grateful for her great hospitality for members of my own family that came from away this summer, and Rachel took hours and hours to walk us through the museum. Thank you, Rachel, and congratulations, and we are so proud of you.

Having a lifelong interest in Acadian history, she wrote Madawaska’s Centennial Book in 1969, single-handedly researching, interviewing and making sketches to produce a book that was about the people of the region. It is considered one of the most complete researches of the modern history of the St. John's Valley. She is an avid reader and has written a volume of poetry, and she is also a talented painter. The SPEAKER: The Chair recognizes the Representative of Augusta, Representative Crockett.

Representative CROCKETT: Thank you Mr. Speaker. Mr. Speaker, Ladies and Gentlemen of the House. The French Canadians have been present in Maine since 1611. In the 1880’s, large numbers migrated to Augusta from Quebec Province. They were lured here by the “quick money” they thought they could make at the Edwards Mill. They lived in mill housing and quickly filled up “the hill,” as the north end of our city was called.

In September 1922, a group of 24 Franco-Americans met in the basement of Morin’s Shoe Store, on Water Street in Augusta. The result of that informal meeting has become one of the foremost Augusta civic organizations: Le Club Calumet.

At the first gathering, they decided the club would coordinate the interest of its members and give the Franco-Americans a voice, not only in the actions of its own group, but also in the affairs of the community as a whole. The club’s purpose was the preservation and development of the French language, the development of Franco-Americans by means of music, literature, education and anything else the club judged beneficial to the interest of Franco-Americans.

Over all these years, one of the ways the club has supported this goal is by advising students to pursue higher education. Beginning in 1922, Le Club Calumet appointed a committee to encourage students to continue their education by enrolling at Cony High School. Later, the club set up a scholarship fund for students of Franco-American descent, and in 1949, awarded the first four-year scholarship. In 1957, all club members were assessed one dollar of their birth to be deposited into an education fund to help students pursue post high school education. The birthday dollar program continues to this day.

Dr. Taub is respected and admired by all at the Governor Baxter School for the Deaf, in spite of the fact that he remained a diehard Yankee fan, Dr. Taub served with great honor and distinction for eight years at the Governor Baxter School for the Deaf. Dr. Taub was given a large turnout reception at the school on March 14, 2008, with a lot of sadness at his leaving expressed by citizens, teachers, students, and friends who attended.

The Governor Baxter School for the Deaf sits on a small island just off Falmouth proper, and was left to the state and public by former Governor Percival Baxter. Dr. Taub’s departure from the Governor Baxter School for the Deaf will be a great loss to Maine, but we wish him the best in his future endeavors.

Representative SAVAGE: Thank you Mr. Speaker. Mr. Speaker, Ladies and Gentlemen of the House. Taub as the 15th Head of their school beginning July 1, 2008.

Currently, Dr. Taub serves as a superintendent and CEO of the Maine Educational Center for the Deaf and Hard of Hearing and the Governor Baxter School for the Deaf in Falmouth, Maine. Dr. Taub will be the first deaf individual to head the Pennsylvania School for the Deaf since birth and a member of a multi-generational deaf family, Dr. Taub holds a Bachelor of Arts degree in History from Hofstra University, a Master of Arts in Education of the Deaf degree from NYU Steinhardt, and a Doctor of Education in Educational Administration degree from Columbia University.

UNFINISHED BUSINESS

The following matter, in the consideration of which the House was engaged at the time of adjournment yesterday, had preference in the Orders of the Day and continued with such preference until disposed of as provided by House Rule 502.

Resolve, Directing the Secretary of State To Work with the Legislative Youth Advisory Council To Establish a Program Regarding Educating Youth about Voting

OUGHT NOT TO PASS

Representative EBERLE: Thank you Mr. Speaker. Mr. Speaker, Colleagues of the House. I ask you to join with me in voting against this motion. This is something that it is time to enact in the State of Maine. We have had some tragedies on our lakes, and ask you to join me in defeating this motion. Thank you.

The SPEAKER: The Chair recognizes the Representative from South Portland, Representative Eberle.

This is something that it is time to enact in the State of Maine. We have had some tragedies on our lakes, and ask you to join me in defeating this motion. Thank you.

The SPEAKER: The Chair recognizes the Representative from Allagash, Representative Eberle.
from Wilton, Representative Saviello.

Representative SAVIELLO: Thank you Mr. Speaker. Mr. Speaker, Ladies and Gentlemen of the House. I am on my good Chair's side on this particular bill because I do not think we need it, and I will try to explain it very quickly to you.

I think Representative Jackson alluded to the fact that if we looked at the last six or seven years of accidents, we would find a large percent of them are kayaks and canoes, and not motorboats.

Number two, the accident that occurred this summer was really a case of common sense. We cannot license common sense; this does not matter.

Lastly, at home, I am not going to go to a 70 year old man who has been boating all of his life, and let me add that I do not boat; if I did, I would, in fact, take a class and learn how to do that, I probably would scare the game wardens to death, but I am not going to tell that 70 year old man to go to a permit and learn how to boat. Thank you very much, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER: The Chair recognizes the Representative from Bath, Representative Watson. Rep. Watson, you have the floor.

Representative WATSON: Thank you Mr. Speaker. Mr. Speaker, Ladies and Gentlemen of the House. As most of you know, the only qualification to take a 35 foot, 500 horsepower boat out on Sebago Lake or off the shore at Cranberry Isles right now, is a checkbook; that is all that is required.

We killed 16 people on Maine waters last year, and the good Representative from Wilton and the good Representative from Allagash are correct: Several of those deaths involved kayaks and canoes; people drowning just off the shore of their property, or, in conjunction with the Department of Marine Resources, we have not had the need to pass the 70 year old man to a permit.

The tragic accident on Long Lake last summer might not have been prevented by Maine having a mandatory Boater Safety Education Act. The operator of that vessel was from Massachusetts, and Massachusetts does not currently have a mandatory boater safety education requirement, except for youth; however, within the last couple of days, Massachusetts has voted favorably out of committee a bill very similar to the one that is before you now. If Massachusetts adopts that measure, Maine will be the only—one—state in New England without a basic boater safety education requirement.

With regard to tourists, chances are that the tourists that pull a boat in to Maine and plan to operate in Maine over the course of the summer, are coming from one of the nearly 40 other states that require mandatory boater education. The Minority Report on this bill, which we would encourage you to adopt, stresses that reciprocity. If a tourist has boater safety education in his own home state, that will satisfy the requirements of this law. This law is not going to stop tourists and ask them to check an ID at the gate. As a matter of fact, this law, and the requirement for boater safety education, another worry of the Committee Chairs does not speak to boater registration at all; you do not need to show proof that you have attended a boater safety education class and successively accomplished that in order to register a boat. That is not in the bill; that is not in the Minority Report; the two are not tied together at all. This requirement for mandatory boater safety education is not a driver's license; it is not an operator's permit; it cannot be revoked; it has no renewing requirement; it simply requires someone to demonstrate proficiency in basic boater safety education.

Now, another concern that the good Chair has had is about availability of courses. He was surprised to learn that there is a Power Squadron operating in Presque Isle, there are Power Squadrons operating all over the state; however, that may not be a concern. The Department of Inland, Fisheries and Wildlife, in conjunction with the Department of Marine Resources, is tasked by the Minority Report on this measure to oversee set up, and to oversee the availability of safety boater education. The volunteer groups, the Coast Guard Auxiliary and the Power Squadrons, have approached us and said we will do that, we will send instructors to adult education centers; these courses will be available online; we will provide proctors for online examinations for people who do not care to take the course and feel they have enough boater education and experience to demonstrate that in a rather simple, short 20 to 30 minute exam. Availability is not a problem. Availability was the same argument we heard when we discussed mandatory hunter education and, in fact, the volunteers turned up to teach those courses, and they are made available all over the state. The same is the case here: I, myself, will be teaching one of these courses in the course of the spring and summer, in boater safety education in Maine, and there are many more volunteers that will be doing the same thing.

Some of the other concerns are, again, are the same we heard with hunter safety: We do not need to do it, we are experienced, we are in the woods all the time. I have even heard that there is a big difference between a loaded gun and a powerboat. I am afraid those do not wash. Representative Saviello's comments are well taken: You cannot legislate common sense; that is very true. However, those of you who have some understanding of basic boater safety education understand that the rules of the road, the nautical rules of the road, are based on common sense. The difference is that when you are operating within the rules of road on the water, particularly crowded waters, particularly waters in our state in the summer, you have no confidence at all that the boat approaching you is operating out of the same rulebook. You can have no confidence at all that the people operating around you understand that the basic nautical rules of the road are based on common courtesy and common sense, because if you are not aware of those rules, they do not come naturally to you, you have to learn courtesy of basic boater education.

Finally, Mr. Speaker, with regard to Representative Saviello's problem with approaching or responding to a 70 year old who is being told now that he has to go back and get boater education; in order to operate a boat that he has operated for 30 or 40 years, I would first ask that senior about the last time that he was on the water and he and his fishing partner were nearly swamped by some idiot who does not understand that you cannot pass another boat, or you have to pass another boat properly. I would ask that 70 year old about the last time he sat on the shore of his camp and watched a water-skier party come within 50 or 60 feet of shore, upsetting a slope, causing erosion on his property and our state in the summer, you have no confidence at all that the people operating around you are operating by the same rules, that understand basic boater safety as well as you do.

Finally, if that is a big concern, if that is the major concern here and I regret this kind of rural divide that has developed around this bill, the people where I come from in the south, mid-coast and inland in the south, the people who have tried to spend an afternoon on Sebago Lake understand very well—very well—you have to learn courtesy of basic boater education. The people north of us, in rural areas and on the Downeast coast, who have operated them for years that are not getting the pressure from tourists, say this is nothing but the state sticking its face in its face, saying I have to do something to allow me to do something that I have done for generations. I regret that divide but, in fact, it is coming. The less populated areas where boater safety had not been a particular problem are still going to see that it will be.

There are benefits to this, obviously: It will reduce your boat insurance; there are lots of other things that you are aware of that I will not go into, the importance of safety. However, if that is the big problem, if it is a problem to go home and face the 70 year old couple that is angry that you have passed this measure, then reject the Majority Ought to Pass, accept the Minority Ought to Pass. As amended, take a look at that bill, then come back in here and join with me when I move it off enactment and offer a House Amendment that would limit the effects of this bill to those people born after January 1, 1950 or so; take the very seniors off it. If you feel, if you agree that they are the ones not posing the problem, then let us take a look at the bill. I take the rest of it remember this bill does not go into effect until 2011—the rest of us are rolled in by age over a period of time, with plenty of time to accomplish this at no expense to the state, and very little expense to your constituent need. It is just a good idea, and it is good policy for Maine. I encourage you to reject the pending motion, accept the Minority Report, and then let's discuss if that needs to be tweaked as well. Mr. Speaker, I would request a roll call.

Representative WATSON of Bath: The motion to accept the Majority Ought Not to Pass Report.

More than one-fifth of the members present expressed a desire for a roll call which was ordered.

The Chair recognizes the Representative from Columbia, Representative Tibbetts.

Representative TIBBETTS: Thank you Mr. Speaker. Mr. Speaker, Ladies and Gentlemen of the House. I have heard Sebago Lake mentioned several times here today; I have heard horsepower on the boats and the speedboats mentioned several times here today. I have no problem with education; I have no problem at all with an educational course. Maybe we should have one for common sense, but I do not think that is going to work either.

I guess my thing is this is not the bill, this is not the tool we need. If we are going to start an educational course, we should do it like we did our hunter safety course. Anyone who has a license or anybody who has been doing this for years should be grandfathered. We should start doing it with our youth, because I will tell you that we should be doing the same thing with our snowmobiles. We had a horrific number of deaths this year on snowmobiles. I am not sure whether a snowmobile safety course would have saved lives or not, but the thing is there is other legislation that we can put in, but to have to go back home this weekend and tell my 70 year old father-in-law that before he can load his lobster traps on his boat, in 2011—by the way, he plans to fishing until he is 100—and before he can load them on his boat and take them downriver and set his traps, he has to take a safety course. I am telling you, my fishermen that fish out of the river, some are upset with this. It is just not the right law.

I am not against safety, I am not against a law that might regulate certain sized boats on certain lakes, and I am certainly not against an educational boater safety course, but I do think there are certain people who have to be grandfathered. And I think, come the last of April when I take my 12-year old grandson out in a 16-foot boat with a six horsepower motor, I do not think a family with two couples—and a new boat hooked to the back; low tide. The older couple turned the truck around, puts it in reverse and backs the trailer out into the bay—there is probably about 6 or 8 inches of water out there—as far as you can back it, and I thought, “Okay, I am watching this.” He jumps out of the truck, puts it in park, jumps up into the boat and drops the motor. Then he continues to get back in the truck and back the sucker out some more, and it was not too bad, about three feet in the boat, and the kid said, “I am right into the mud and the muck, the clamshells and the rocks, and he starts the engine. Now, at this point, picture this: I am wrapped around my dog, burying my face in five inches of fur because I am laughing so hard that I had just about lost it, so I straighten myself up. The daughter-in-law jumps out of the boat, walks up the beach, and I said to her, “New boat?” She said, “Yesterday,” “Taken a safety boater course?” “No,” she said, “I am not sure how he knows how to drive it.” I said, “Obviously. Do you have personal floatation devices on board?” They had nothing. I said, “Where are you headed?” She said, “Out to Frenchman’s Bay, going around the bay.” I said, “Do you want me to call the Coast Guard now, or would you rather me wait until later, because you are going to need them.” These people headed out to the bay with a bent propeller, putting along; I know the Coast Guard had to rescue them.

Attorney that has been on the Bay, or anybody that has been on Sebago Lake, or anybody who has been on Moosehead Lake, or anybody that has been in rough whitewater will understand how fast this pleasure trip can turn to a nightmare, instantly, and it happens every day on Sebago Lake, or anybody that has been on Moosehead Lake, or anybody that has been on the Bay, or anybody that has been on Bass Harbor enrolled to, our boat is a Coast Guard Auxiliary boat, and whenever we were out the sticker was on there. We have had to haul canoers out of the river, tow them up the bay, and bring them in. How did we know how to do this? Because I very much believe in the roll call on, saying I have to do something to allow me to do something for the interests of the state of Maine. I encourage you to reject the Majority Ought Not to Pass.
anything, a couple of hours a night; take the time out of your life. I want you to put this in the back of your mind: Your boat is pleasure, and it is wonderful, it is 35 feet long; it has an engine that can go from zero to way too fast and your grandchildren are on there. Some inconsiderate boater driving a 45 foot boat, full throttle, comes by you and kicks up a wake that throws your grandchildren up into the air and down and out of the boat. I have seen it happen; I have seen the results of these children. This is a good bill that maybe is not perfect, I am not sure we are capable of writing a perfect anything, but I ask you to strongly consider this bill. This is a good bill that maybe is not perfect, but I ask you to strongly consider this bill. This is a good bill that maybe is not perfect, but I ask you to strongly consider this bill. This is a good bill that maybe is not perfect, but I ask you to strongly consider this bill. This is a good bill that maybe is not perfect, but I ask you to strongly consider this bill. This is a good bill that maybe is not perfect, but I ask you to strongly consider this bill. This is a good bill that maybe is not perfect, but I ask you to strongly consider this bill.

By unanimous consent, all matters having been acted upon were ORDERED SENT FORTHWITH.

The SPEAKER: The Chair recognizes the Representative from Allagash, Representative Jackson.

Representative JACKSON: Thank you Mr. Speaker. Mr. Speaker, Ladies and Gentlemen of the House. Chances are that the guy from Massachusetts may not have had any safety training, and chances are that when he comes here and wants to rent a boat from someone, that that guy is going to ram the boat. If it comes down to telling someone you cannot because you have not had this training, or, no, I will rent it to you for $100 a day, I think they are probably going to take the $100 for the day, and this bill does nothing to address that.

Even if the state the person comes from does have the mandatory training, it does not mean that person took it. When they come to Maine, they would be opened to rent any boat if the renter would allow them to, so think that is something that is not going to happen. The chances are that he is coming from a state that already requires, or a province of Canada that already requires boater safety education, and according to the instructions the bill gives to the departments as they develop this plan, they are to reciprocate and recognize that. In this case of the Massachusetts man, chances are if he started boating when he was 16 or 17 years old, he does have boater education, because their law has been in effect for youths for some time. If he comes next summer, chances are he will have one as an adult, because Massachusetts law has been reported out of committee favorably this session, this week, and may be active on this session. Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER: The Chair recognizes the Representative from McKane, Representative Newcastle.

Representative MCKANE: Thank you Mr. Speaker. Mr. Speaker, Ladies and Gentlemen of the House. I will try not to repeat too much of what has been said already, and I agree with much of what has been said on both sides. There is a safety problem, but it is with all of the outdoor activities that we enjoy in Maine here; I mean, they are inherently dangerous. Just look at the snowmobile accidents that have happened lately. But we can predict there are going to be injuries and fatalities with skiing, snowboarding, whitewater rafting, canoeing, kayaking, backpacking, mountain climbing, bicycling—there are going to be accidents. Can we somehow inject more safety in there? I hope we can; I do not think this is the way to do it. I think it will put another hurdle, as far as boating is concerned, between Mainers and something that they like to do, and at a time where we see Americans, in general, spending less time outdoors. We are issuing fewer hunting permits, fewer fishing licenses; we are spending more time in closed doors behind our computers, virtually visiting the outdoors, and I think at the expense of our health, both physical and mental.

This bill is a one size fits all solution to a problem that might be solved in a better way. This treats a 50 foot catch sailing off Monhegan the same as an aluminum skiff on a small pond in inland Maine. I think if we could somehow instill three basic principles to people who are engaging in any outdoor activity, we could cut the fatalities and accidents down substantially: First of all, do not operate your boat or snowmobile, or go skiing when you are drunk; that would be a big one right there. Most of these boating accidents occurred when someone was intoxicated. Second, look at the weather. Just check the weather report and see what it is doing; that is the other. It is a huge issue when you are boating on a lake in Maine or out to sea, the weather conditions can change dramatically in a very short time. And the third one, just common sense. Do not back your boat over the mudflats when there is not enough water; I do not know if they are going to teach you about the mudflats in this safety certificate course. I would like to make all of these outdoor activities safer if there is anyway we could, and I would be glad to work with the proponents of this bill and anyone else interested, in figuring out some way to increase boater safety education without requiring this certificate. Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

In this case of the Massachusetts man, chances are if he comes next summer, chances are he will have this plan, they are to reciprocate and recognize that.
The SPEAKER: The Chair recognizes the Representative from Harrison, Representative Sykes.

Representative SYKES: Thank you Mr. Speaker. Mr. Speaker, Ladies and Gentlemen of the House. I have heard it said that passing a boater safety education program should not have prevented that terrible accident on Long Lake, in Harrison, this summer. I do not know whether it would have or not; I do not know.

I do know two things: First, 38 states have a boater safety education program. Secondly, I know that a 2007 study of the best practices in boating education by the National Association of State Boating Law Administrators showed that states with the longest history of boater safety education programs also have the lowest average fatality rates in the states; the longer the boating safety education requirements have been in place, the lower the fatality rates. Thank you.

The SPEAKER: The Chair recognizes the Representative from South Portland, Representative Eberle.

Representative EBERLE: Thank you Mr. Speaker. Mr. Speaker, Men and Women of the House. I just wanted to address a couple of issues that came up: The fisherman is exempt; it only refers to non-commercial. A youth under the age of 16 operating a motorboat with less than 10 horsepower and under the supervision of a parent is also not included in this.

In terms of educating the youngest of our boaters, that is exactly how it works. It starts phasing in with the youngest of our boat operators over time, and I would reiterate the offer to deal with the issue of somebody who had been boating for a long time and exempting them. Again, I would urge you to vote against the pending motion. Thank you.

The SPEAKER: The Chair recognizes the Representative from Freeport, Representative Webster.

Representative WEBSTER: Thank you Mr. Speaker. Mr. Speaker, Ladies and Gentlemen of the House. I appreciate the comments of all of my good colleagues regarding this issue, and certainly there are some reasonable concerns; however, people have talked a bit about common sense and that caused me to want to rise.

What is common sense? Well, common sense is really the accumulated knowledge that is given to you as you move forward in life. For some people, seeing a marker near a swimming area that marks that swimming area, it is only common sense to stay away from that and not go between that buoy and the shore. But for those who have never seen that marker before, it is not common sense because it is not acquired knowledge.

If a person is out on the water—even an experienced boater from one lake—and goes to another lake or a river and sees a white can with an orange diamond on it, they may or may not know what that means. To the person that has grown up seeing that, knowing that you have to stay away because there is a rock or a hazard, or a sunken boat, it is common sense. But for the person who has never acquired that knowledge yet, it is not common sense because it has not been acquired.

Mr. Speaker, if you see a boat coming at you, or two, or three at the same time, for many of us having acquired the knowledge from childhood, it is common sense to know how to pass those other boats, and how to stay out of the way. But if you have never done it before, it is not common sense, it is not acquired knowledge. What this piece of legislation does is it requires, in a methodical and phased way, to help people who have not acquired that common sense to do so. I think this is a practical, simple, and reasonable measure. For those of you who have not had the experience of watching someone or being close to someone on a jet ski, on your lake or near your boat, or near your children, someone who just bought or rented a jet ski and is going 30 or 40 miles per hour near you or your children, you wished that they had a little bit more common sense than they are displaying. This bill helps us to let the general population to require more common sense. Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER: The Chair recognizes the Representative from Sanford, Representative Boland.

Representative BOLAND: Thank you Mr. Speaker. Mr. Speaker, Ladies and Gentlemen of the House. I just have to add a few words to this conversation. I am not from a rural area and I am not a regular boater, but I am old enough to want to speak on behalf of the elders that I think to worry that an older person would be offended at being asked to set an example for younger people is the wrong idea. Older people can, I think, be seen often times as leaders, and I think probably those are the people who would be most receptive to the idea of sharing their respect for the waters, their respect for boating with younger people. I wanted to share that.

I also wanted to share that we have a great deal of pride in our tourist industry, and I think it would be a shame not to hold the highest standards up for people when they come here, to feel that they are safely enjoying the benefits of our tourist industry.

Lastly, as a mother, I would certainly feel an awful lot of anger if my child were killed or maimed in a boating accident, and my Representative had chosen to vote against education for those who are operating boats. Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER: The Chair recognizes the Representative from Auburn, Representative Simpson.

Representative SIMPSON: Thank you Mr. Speaker. Mr. Speaker, Men and Women of the House. I have been listening to this debate and am trying to make up my mind. Men and Women of the House, people like me made some good points, and I would like to just state that I will not be supporting the pending motion and hope that we could go on to the Minority Report which could be amended to allay some people's fear on some other points that are in the Minority Report, to grandfather out some people.

The SPEAKER: The Chair recognizes the Representative from Bethel, Representative Carter.

Representative CARTER: Thank you Mr. Speaker. Mr. Speaker, Ladies and Gentlemen of the House. I am one of those individuals that is fast approaching 70 that would object to being told I have to take a boating safety course. I have never taken a boating safety course; I have read parts of Chapman's Piloting because I had a boat on the Chesapeake Bay. I am not against education; I am against mandatory education for all.

Again, if you go out on a lake that you are unfamiliar with, you try to get a map of the lake, and when you get a map of the lake, it sometimes tells you what different buoys on the lake mean, because different buoys on different lakes mean different things. Anybody who has been on the ocean knows: Red, right, return. I do not think much of this, and I have a 14-year-old granddaughter and I let her drive my boat. I have a 20-foot canoe, a 21-foot boat, and a couple of paddle and whitewater canoes, and I have been in a lot of rough water and I have survived. I do not think that at this time this is necessary, it is against the tradition of Maine people, this would be offensive at being asked to set an example for younger people is the wrong idea. Older people can, I think, be seen often times as leaders, and I think probably those are the people who are operating boats. Thank you, Mr. Speaker.
The pending question before the House is Acceptance of the Majority Ought Not to Pass Report. All those in favor will vote yes, those opposed will vote no.

The Bill was READ ONCE. Committee Amendment "A" (H-773) was READ by the Clerk and ADOPTED. The Bill was assigned for SECOND READING Thursday, March 20, 2008.

The SPEAKER: The Chair recognizes the Representative from Phippsburg, Representative Percy who wishes to address the House on the record.

Representative PERCY: Thank you Mr. Speaker. Mr. Speaker, Ladies and Gentlemen of the House. Today, as many of you may remember, is the anniversary of the start of the Iraqi War and I would like to ask, Mr. Speaker, if we in the House could rise and stand for a moment of silence in honor of the 4,000 Americans who have died, as well as the thousands of Iraqi citizens who have died in this endeavor.

At this point, the Members of the House stood and joined in a moment of silence in honor of the fifth anniversary of the Iraq War.

By unanimous consent, all matters having been acted upon were ORDERED SENT FORTHWITH.

On motion of Representative PERCY of Phippsburg, the House adjourned at 11:28 a.m., until 9:00 a.m., Thursday, March 20, 2008.
